5. Taking Courses and Exams for Courses Offered by Other Schools

Students must follow the guidelines of the each school in order to take courses offered by the other schools. It should be noted that other schools' timetables might be different from WBS.

V. Grading System

1. Student achievement in lecture courses is indicated using the following five-grade system. Pass grades are indicated with A+, A, B, or C, and fail grades are indicated by F.

Transcripts will only list classes in which a passing grade was received. Specific courses will utilize a two-scale grading system with P for passing and Q for failing.

P/Q-Graded Courses
Bilingual Course, Business English, English for Global Business Communication for Non-Native Speakers, Advanced Business Communication in English for Non-Native Speakers, Leadership by Example A & B, Dialogue with Top Entrepreneurs in Japan, Business Research Method for MBA Students, Essence of Project Research, and Research Guidance courses.

2. SA and GPA

WBS uses two systems for individual grade averages: SA (Scholarship Average) and GPA (Grade Point Average). SA is the standard used within WBS for screening outgoing exchange students to WBS's partner institutions and for selecting candidates for scholarships within WBS. GPA is the standard used for screening students dispatched under inter-university partnerships and for selecting candidates for scholarships within the university. The main difference between the SA and GPA is that the SA does not include specialized research courses or courses offered by other majors, other graduate schools or other institutions.

- About SA

The total grade at WBS is calculated as follows:

- (a) Each grade will be converted to grade point (GP).
- (b) The GP for each grade is as follows.

Grade	Point	GP	Grade	Point	GP
A +	100-90	3	C	69-60	0
A	89-80	2	F	59-	- 1
B	79-70	1

(c) The average GP is calculated using a method known as the SA. The SA (up to two decimal points) is reflected in the final result.

* Add the products of each GP and the number of credits (CN) given, then divide that sum by the total number of credits registered (including the number of failed credits).

<SA calculation>

*Decimals are shown to the second place (the third decimal place will be rounded).

(d) Courses for SA

Program	Courses for SA
- International MBA Program - MSc in Finance Program - One-year MBA Program - Evening MBA Program (General) - Evening MBA Program (Specialized) - Waseda-Nanyang Double MBA Program	All courses provided by the WBS, Graduate School of Commerce MBA Track and Graduate School of Finance, Accounting, and Law and NTU EXCEPT Non-credit courses, specialized research, P/Q-graded courses, and courses provided by other programs, graduate schools, or institutes

3. The SA is published on the “WEB grade page.” (It is not published on the “Transcripts of academic records”.)

- About GPA

(a) Calculation of GPA

For academic assessment for courses, GPs are calculated as follows:

A+ = 4, A = 3, B = 2, C = 1, and Fail = 0

Add the products of each GP and the CN given, then divide that sum by the total number of credits registered (including the number of failed credits).

$$\frac{(A^+ \text{ CN} \times 4) + (A \text{ CN} \times 3) + (B \text{ CN} \times 2) + (C \text{ CN} \times 1) + (F \text{ CN} \times 0)}{\text{Total number of credits registered (including failed credits)}}$$

*Decimals are shown to the second place (the third decimal place will be rounded).

*The GPA is calculated to two decimal points.

(b) Courses for GPA

All courses registered for the degree (other than Non-credit courses) are included in GPA calculations. However, the grade assessments for the courses listed below, which are included in the degree, are not reflected in the GPA.

- P/Q-graded courses
- Research guidance, which uses P/Q assessment.

(c) Notification and certification of GPA

The GPA is indicated on the “WEB grade page”. A GPA certificate will be issued that indicates the grades and GPA for courses that use GPA. GPA is not shown on the “Transcripts of academic records”.

4. Assessment methods

WBS uses a grading system that is based upon three assessment methods: Comparative Grading, Adjusted Comparative Grading, and Absolute Grading.

Assessment Method	Course Category
Comparative Grading	Compulsory core courses, Compulsory elective courses (except MSc)
Adjusted Comparative Grading	General elective courses, Overseas courses, Compulsory elective courses (offered at MSc)
Absolute Grading	Seminar, Project research, Thesis

Basic Grading Criteria

Comparative Grading	A + (total count): Limited to 20% or less of the total number of course-registered students A + and A (total count of A+ and A grades): Limited to 40% or less of the total number of course-registered students
Adjusted Comparative Grading	A + (total count): Limited to 20% or less of {the total number of course-registered students + 5} A + and A (total count of A+ and A grades): Limited to 50% or less of {the total number of course-registered students + 5}

Grading methods are decided by the principal course segment regardless of which program a student belongs to. Thus, for example, if evening professional students take compulsory elective courses, the credits will be counted as elective course graduation credits, but the assessment methods will be Comparative Grading. Take careful note of this when signing up for courses.

5. Commendation System for Honor Students with Good Academic Results

WBS offers commendations for honor students with good academic results for each program.

Dean's List:

Commendation for high achievers each semester.

Those who registered for at least five courses (except Zemi and PQ assessment courses) in the most-recent semester and whose SA value is within the top 15%.

Distinguished Students:

Commendation for students with good results at the time of graduation.

Those whose period of enrollment is within the standard period, and whose SA value is within the top 10% at the time of graduation.

Extra Effort Students: (Apply only to students in the IMBA program)

Commendation for students in the International MBA program (full-time) who earned a large number of credits.

Those whose period of enrollment is within the standard period and who, at the time of graduation, have earned 64 credits or above for courses required for graduation.

VI. Study Abroad

1. WBS strongly encourages its students to study abroad during their enrollment.

(1) Exchange programs under the Departmental Agreement

WBS has concluded student exchange agreements with the following 32 partner institutions. WBS sends students to, and accepts students from, those partner schools.

The List of WBS partner schools is available on our Web site:
<https://www.waseda.jp/fcom/wbs/en/applicants/global>

(2) Exchange programs with partner schools under the university-wide agreement

Waseda University has concluded a variety of student exchange agreements with more than 500 partner schools around the world and dispatches Waseda graduate students to the partner schools. Please refer to the study-abroad handbook issued by the Center for International Education.

(3) Other study-abroad programs

Students who participate in any study-abroad programs other than the programs mentioned above will be regarded as taking part in “Privately Financed” study-abroad programs.

2. In principle, study-abroad programs are one year or less in length. Please contact the WBS office for details regarding school fees and student status at WBS before applying for in a student exchange program.

(1) In the case of exchange programs under the departmental agreement, participants must pay all tuition and fees to WBS, and subsequently, the entire tuition and fees of the host institution will be exempt.

(2) The tuition and fees in the student exchange programs under the university-wide agreement will vary depending on the program.

(3) For students who participate in Privately Financed study-abroad programs, a fee of 50,000 JPY as an enrollment fee will be charged by Waseda and the tuition and fees for the host institution will be charged by the host institution for each semester.

3. Credits earned during the study-abroad programs may be officially transferred and recognized within the limit of credits for each degree after completion of the credits transfer procedures and screening. The course titles are written in English on the transcripts of academic records. For students who participate in Privately Financed study-abroad programs, if credits earned during the “Privately Financed” study-abroad program are transferred, a credit transfer fee may be charged.

Application for transfer credits earned during a study-abroad should be made in accordance with the deadlines indicated below. The application result will be announced at the time of the grade announcements, in which the transferred credits will be recognized.

As a general rule, a credit transfer application after the designated deadlines will not be allowed, and a credit transfer can be made only while enrolling at WBS.

Those who are in their final semester can apply and participate in a study-abroad program just before their graduation (e.g., Summer or Spring Intensive Course), with the understanding that the credit transfer will not be recognized.
