

Graduate School of Asia-Pacific Studies, Waseda University Request for Donations to Enhance Educational and Research Environments

To all Graduate School of Asia-Pacific Studies alumni and supporters:

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for your continued support and assistance to our Graduate School.

Waseda University's Graduate School of Asia-Pacific Studies (GSAPS) was founded in April, 1998 with the fundamental mission of conducting interdisciplinary research on issues that the Asia-Pacific region face, from both global and regional perspectives and applying the outcomes of our research to wide range of social issues and solving them. We will celebrate our 30th anniversary in 2028. Over the past three decades, the Asia-Pacific region has achieved rapid economic growth, reduced poverty rates, and strengthened its presence on the global stage. Along with these developments, GSAPS has actively provided internationally distinctive education and research, playing a key role in the internationalization of Waseda University. Since our foundation, we have welcomed students from more than 50 countries and regions, and as of September 2025, we have over 4,000 graduates with master's degree and more than 400 doctoral graduates. Our graduates are now making significant contributions in professional fields worldwide.

Amid an increasingly chaotic world, GSAPS strives to further improve its educational and research environments in order to nurture and produce talented individuals from this dynamic region who can contribute to global peace and prosperity. Our key goals are:

- 1. Improvement of the educational environment and facilities to support student research activities.
- 2. Support for students' financial needs through internships and international educational exchange programs

For the benefit of the students who will shape the future of GSAPS, we would be deeply grateful for the support and cooperation of those who share our vision and values.

We sincerely appreciate your consideration and continued support.

Atsushi Kato
Dean, GSAPS, Waseda University
