

Reflections on a 30-year career in technology between Asia, Silicon Valley and Europe Ideas for the coming AI Era

April 28, 2026

Tuesday | 13:10-14:50

Building 19, Room 710, Waseda University

David Wallerstein

Senior Advisor, Tencent

Join us for a fireside chat with David Wallerstein, technology investor and former CXO of Tencent, during which he will discuss his career at Tencent from the early start up period until the present. How has the technology world shifted over the past 30 years, and what can we learn from the past to help us navigate the current AI era? What may be different, and what factors may still apply? How can current students consider approaches to navigate their own careers, learning from David's own experience. We welcome an interactive discussion with the audience for this unique talk.
