August 2022

To Parents and Guardians of current students,

“Parents’ Day” at the School of Political Science and Economics

The School of Political Science and Economics at Waseda University will hold a Parents’ Day for parents and guardians of first-year students (Japanese-based Degree Program) and second-year students (English-based Degree Program) to offer a deeper understanding of the educational policies of the School via video streaming, as follows. We look forward to your participation.

Parents’ Day 2022

Method:

Video streaming via YouTube (on-demand contents)

Date and time:

October 19, 2022 (Wed.) 17:00 - November 7, 2022 (Mon.) 09:00 (JST)

This is not a live broadcast, so you can watch it at any time during the period shown above.

Contents:

Explanation of the faculty (by the Dean)

Introduction to current students’ activities, including study abroad and job hunting (by the Associate Dean in charge of public relations)

The URL for viewing will be sent by e-mail to parents and guardians who have applied through the participation application form. In addition, we will send for your reference a collection of Q&A that summarizes the questions we receive every year.
