However, this does not apply to master's students who graduated undergraduate courses at Waseda University.
- * If the student takes a leave of absence during the semester in which his/her is enrolled, the amounts in the above table do not apply (the full amount for the relevant semester will be charged), and there will be no refund of the tuition and fees that has already been paid.

7. Returning to school or continuing Leave of Absence

Students must return to school at the beginning of the semester (April 1 or September 21). The documents for return-to-school will be sent about one month prior to the date of return. If it is difficult for students to return to school and choose to continue the leave of absence, the above-mentioned procedures must be followed again.

8. Taking courses after returning to school

After returning to the university, the following 1, 2 and 3 will be applied for course taking.

1. The year to which a student returns after a leave of absence is determined by subtracting the number of years of the leave of absence from the number of years elapsed since enrollment. However, if there is a fraction of a year of enrollment, the student may round up the fraction of a year at the beginning of the school year and take courses in the higher grade levels.
Example; if a student takes a leave of absence in the fall semester of his/her second year and returns to school in the spring semester of following year, he/she will not be considered a third-year student because he/she has been in school for 1.5 years and on leave for 0.5 years. However he/she is permitted to take third-year courses as the 1.5 year figure is rounded up to 2.0 years.

2. In the case of full-year courses, credits can be earned by totaling the grades of Attendance Period A and Attendance Period B, as shown in Figures (a) and (b). However, if the faculty member in charge determines that it is difficult to acquire credits through class attendance in the 0.5 years (spring semester) prior to the leave of absence, this treatment will not be applied.

3. As for the graduation thesis, for example, as shown in Figure (c), if student take a 0.5-year leave of absence, he/she can start it in the spring semester of his/her fourth year if it meet the conditions. However, the conditions for starting the graduation thesis differ from department to department, so please contact the department for details. In addition, due to the number of years of study required, the evaluation of courses related to the graduation thesis is conducted when the number of years of study (4 years) has been completed.
