

Jordan Sand Winter Special Lectures: Writing, Teaching, and Thinking Japan's World War II

Lecture : Jordan Sand

Professor of Japanese History, Georgetown University

Language : English

Entry : Pre-registration Please apply using the form below.

<https://forms.gle/entjdy5VeSE7hkiM7>

In the years to come, what should university students around the world learn about Japan's role and Japanese experience in World War II? How do we frame the story of this vast event? These three lectures will highlight some recent research on the war years as well as individual testimony and other primary documents to explore new ways to write, teach, and think about Japan's World War II. Members of the audience will be invited to participate in the exercise by sharing their own ideas of what matters most in transmitting knowledge of the war today and in the future.

Date		Theme	Place
January 10 (Wed) 2024	17:00-18:40 JST	Lecture 1	Time
January 11 (Thu) 2024	17:00-18:40 JST	Lecture 2	Space
January 12 (Fri) 2024	17:00-18:40 JST	Lecture 3	Actors
			14-515 (Wasada Campus) & ZOOM
			14-514 (Wasada Campus) & ZOOM
			14-501 (Wasada Campus) & ZOOM

WASEDA University

- Organized by Global Asia Research Center, Waseda University
- Inquiry: globalasia-office@list.waseda.jp