

Symposium

Jointly Organized by Waseda Institute for Advanced Study and Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities and Social Sciences, National Taiwan University

UBIAS Topic of the year 2024 event
TAISI Symposium • IHS-NTU Vanguard Summit

Human/Non-Human Relationships and Sustainable Development

5th

November
2024

Time 9:50 — 18:30 (GMT +9)

Format Online

Themes

Session
A

New Cosmopolitanism

Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities and Social Sciences,
National Taiwan University

Session
B

Distant Future Generations as Imaginary Human and Their Perils

Waseda Institute for Advanced Study, Waseda University

Introduction

— As the looming effects of the Anthropocene grow more menacing, the world scrambles to propose remedies. We have yet to find a solution to the existential crisis for humanity brought about by climate change and biodiversity loss. The 2024 UBIAS common theme, "Human/Non-human," may provide a key to addressing this issue. In this symposium, we will explore potential solutions from two highly contrasting approaches —

Organized by

Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities and Social Sciences, National Taiwan University
Waseda Institute for Advanced Study, Waseda University

臺灣大學人文社會高等研究院
Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities and Social Sciences

Co-organized by

Institute for Advanced Social Sciences, Waseda University

WIAS 早稻田大学
高等研究所

9:50 – 10:00 Opening Remarks by Sebastian Hsien-hao Liao & Ken-Ichi Akao

Session A

New Cosmopolitanism

10:00 – 10:50 “Mind and Compassion:

From Settler Colonialism to Panpsychism”

Sebastian Hsien-hao Liao, Distinguished Professor, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures; Dean, Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities and Social Sciences, National Taiwan University, Taiwan

Sebastian Hsien-hao Liao

11:00 – 11:50 “Intra-active Causality:

From Democracy to Accountability in Karen Barad”

Hung-chiung Li, Associate Professor, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, National Taiwan University, Taiwan

Hung-chiung Li

12:00 – 12:50 “Looking Backward:

Realism by the Future Generations”

Chi-she Li, Professor, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, National Taiwan University, Taiwan

Chi-she Li

Session B

Distant Future Generations as Imaginary Human and Their Perils

14:00 – 14:50 “Distant Future Generations and the Emissions Gap in Climate Change Issues”

Ken-Ichi Akao, Professor, School of Social Sciences, Waseda University; Former Director, Waseda Institute for Advanced Study; President, The Asian Association of Environmental and Resource Economics, Japan

Ken-Ichi Akao

15:00 – 15:50 “Future Design: Futurability, Presentability and Pastability”

Tatsuyoshi Saijo, Director, Future Design Research Center, Kyoto University of Advanced Science; Honorary Fellow, Research Institute for Humanity and Nature, Japan

Tatsuyoshi Saijo

16:00 – 16:50 “Enhancing Empathy for Future Generations:

An Approach Beyond Human/Non-Human Dualism”

Ryuji Yamazaki-Skov, Specially Appointed Associate Professor, Faculty of Glocal Policy Management and Communication, Yamanashi Prefectural University; Guest Associate Professor at Osaka University, Institute for Open and Transdisciplinary Research Initiatives, Osaka University, Japan

Ryuji Yamazaki-Skov

17:00 – 18:30 Round Table

