II 次の英文を読み、設問に答えなさい。

You can find the names of colors in a lot of English expressions. Many of these expressions, however, talk about colors ( 1 ) very different ways. For example, the expression black and white can have different meanings.

If something is “black and white”, it means it is clear, easy to understand. However, some people see everything in “black and white”, which means that they judge everything they see ( 2 ) either good or bad. Some people have to see something in “black and white” to know that it is あ; this “black and white” talks about seeing something printed, as in a newspaper. If something is printed in a newspaper, it must be あ, right?

The color red is often used to talk about things that are hot or exciting. You can listen to red-hot jazz music or eat red-hot chili peppers. If you roll out the red carpet for someone, you are giving them a big welcome. ( 3 ) TV, you may see stars walking on the red carpet at the opening night of a Hollywood movie or at the Academic Awards. After a big night like this, the stars often “paint the town red”, which means that they celebrate and have fun, going to parties or nightclubs all over town. However, red isn’t always fun.

If you do something embarrassing, like spill coffee on your teacher’s desk, perhaps your face is beet-red. Your teacher’s face might be red with anger, too! Or if you see a person doing something bad on purpose, like taking someone’s wallet, you can say that you “caught the person red-handed”. Whether it’s good or bad, red usually means something interesting is happening.

Blue is different. When people are blue, or have got the blues, it means they feel sad. They might listen to blues music, which usually tells sad stories. Blue isn’t always a sad color, though. If something good happens to you when you’re not expecting it, like when you get a good idea, or if you run across an old friend, you can say it happened “out of the blue”.

Green is another color that can have very different meanings. In the past, { almost / negative / was / always / green / something / being }. For example, if you ride ( 4 ) a boat and feel seasick, your face may look green. If someone has something nice that you really want, like a new car or an expensive watch, you may also be “green with envy”. Or if you are starting a new job, your boss may say you are green, which means that you don’t have any え.

Now, however, green is usually good. Being green more often means doing good things for the environment. People who are skilled at gardening have a “green thumb”. Many companies are going green, which means they are recycling more or are trying to use less energy. In fact, some companies are moving to new, green buildings, which may use solar power or X. So if someone asks you how green you are, it probably means they want to know ( 5 ) you do good things for the environment.

Another color word with an interesting meaning is yellow. It’s a ( 6 ) color with many positive meanings. When we see yellow, we think of the joy and warmth of the sun or the beauty of flowers in the spring, and generally pleasant thoughts and associations. We sometimes connect it with new ideas and ways of thinking, as it is a bright and energetic color. However, you have to be careful about its meaning when someone says, “you are too yellow to go on the roller-coaster!” It means you are a coward.

Learning new expressions with colors can be fun, but it’s not always easy. ( 7 ) you can see, their meanings can sometimes be very different. Please keep in mind that the meaning of colors can vary depending on cultural context and personal experience. Try looking for these expressions in the things you read. If you learn more about how these expressions are used, you may add a little color to your writing, or even pass your next English test with flying colors.

Ⅲ 次の会話文を読み、設問に答えなさい。

Chris has injured his leg and a doctor has come to check up on him while he's recovering in hospital.

Dr. Lee : Good morning, Chris. How are you today?

Chris : Pretty good, doctor. I slept well last night. I didn't feel any pain in my leg.

Dr. Lee :  i . You are looking a lot better.

Chris : Dr. Lee, how long will I have to stay in hospital?

Dr. Lee : At least ( 1 ) five days.

Chris : Do you think you can make it shorter? ---[ あ ]---

Dr. Lee : Chris, it is not an issue you can discuss with me or other doctors. You broke your leg badly and you had an operation yesterday. We have to keep ( 2 ) on your recovery for at least ( 1 ) five days.

Chris : Dr. Lee, I am an active person. I always have been. Besides, I'm the captain of the soccer team in my school. All my team members have been practicing very hard for an important match. We only have two more weeks to practice. Sitting in this bed  A is driving me crazy!

Dr. Lee : I understand how you feel, Chris, as I was the vice-captain of the basketball team at high school. I know you broke your leg during a practice match, right? You must be a brave, powerful player with lots of energy.

Chris :  ii , I'm not afraid of getting injured. But I've never been in such a bad situation like this before. I'm so  X . Could you help me get back to my team earlier? I promise that I won't play soccer on the day I get out of hospital.

Dr. Lee : Chris, your leg needs to recover. If you want to return to your team quickly, you need to be patient now. Just sit back and rest your poor leg. You have to stay in bed until the day after tomorrow. ---[ い ]--- If everything goes well, we can start a rehabilitation program in two days. You can start walking around the hallway as long as you are ( 3 ) our physical trainers.

Chris : And dribbling a ball just a couple of times, maybe?

Dr. Lee :  iii . Just walking. Remember, BE PATIENT! ---[ う ]--- Your teammates would say the same thing. I'm sure they are thinking of you a lot.

Chris : Yes, they are! Oh, by the way, Dr. Lee, some of them say they want to  B . Is it OK? I really miss them.

Dr. Lee :  iv they can. Remind them that ( 4 ) are from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Chris : What is the maximum number of visitors?

Dr. Lee : Well, there's no rule, but use your common sense.  ここは病院で、治療を受け休息する場だ。
You are not going to invite the whole team, right?

Chris : Oh, no. ---[ え ]--- They may visit me around 6:30 the day after tomorrow so that we can watch the soccer match of the national team together on TV. They are so nice. They want to make me happy.

Dr. Lee : Can you tell them to leave here during half-time? I know the match starts at 7 p.m. They can't stay until the end of the match. ---[ お ]---

Chris : Oh... I think so.

Dr. Lee : ☐ Y ! I may ask the night watch to make sure your friends are not hiding under your bed to watch the whole game.
