&lt;FAQ&gt;

	Q	A
1	I have an SAT score, but I don't have any AP test score as I missed the AP test. Can I still apply?	You can apply, but your chances of acceptance are slim to none due to lack of required subjects. We highly recommend to take ACT or the standardized test in your country/region where you live. In this case, we do not accept Evaluation Sheet.
2	I have AP scores, but don't have a SAT score. Can I apply only with AP scores?	Same as above
3	I would like to apply for the Major in Mechanical Engineering. Regarding AP Physics courses, is it acceptable to submit Physics courses that are not recommended for the ME Major?	It is acceptable. However, we highly recommend to submit the recommended courses for the Major of your choice.
4	I have multiple AP scores in the same subject area (e.g., AP Physics 1 and AP Physics 2). Which one should I submit?	You can submit all scores for "Math and Computer Science" and "Sciences" you have earned.
5	Regarding AP scores, can I submit scores for "Math and Computer Science" or "Sciences" that are not designated as courses for Mathematics, Physics or Chemistry?	You can submit the scores for the left shown "Optional AP Courses", but these courses does not be regarded as the required subjects. In addition, courses in the other subject areas (e.g., Music Theory in Arts) can not be acceptable.
6	Are SAT Subject scores acceptable?	No. We do not accept SAT Subject scores.
7	Are AP predicted scores acceptable?	No. We do not accept AP predicted scores.
8	I have a SAT score in addition to ACT. Can I submit both scores?	Yes. You can submit both scores.
9	I also took the Writing of ACT. Can I submit it?	Yes. We accept the ACT with the Writing portion, although the Writing score will not be considered in our screening procedures.
