Students can choose among 27 courses taught in English or Spanish. These courses deal with current topics and are designed to be innovative both in content and methodology. This is the reason why all courses have an applied component with workshops, activities, visits, laboratory work or in situ interpretation, which enables learning beyond the classroom. To the courses in Social Movements, Environment, Gender Politics, Big Data, Humanities or New Frontiers in Biology we are now adding others on Artificial Intelligence, Migration, Quantum Mechanics, Philosophy of Law or Digital Marketing.
