Program Summary

The Portland Center program requires students to take 4 credits of Academic English class per term. This Academic English course is open only to Portland Center Program students. This is advantageous to our students because they have an English class tailored to their specific needs.

Students with qualifying TOEFL scores may also take regular PSU electives. There is no program restriction on what electives they take; however, PSU departments may put restrictions (major, class standing, and matriculation) on the elective courses.

Students are also invited to take "Community-Based Learning" classes at Portland State University. These classes help our students learn more about Americans and American society.

Courseload based on TOEFL level

TOEFL iBT 36-70 (ITP 460-523)

- Portland Center course*¹ (4-5 credits)
- ESL course*² (4 credits)
- PSU course*³ #1 (4 credits)
- ESL course #2 or PSU course #2 (4 credits) – Optional

Total credits: 12-16 per term (12 credits are required to maintain your immigration status)

TOEFL iBT 71 and above (ITP 527 and above)

- Portland Center course (4 credits)
- PSU course #1 (4 credits)
- PSU course #2 (4 credits)
- PSU course #3 or ESL course (4 credits) – Optional

Total credits: 12-16 per term (12 credits are required to maintain your immigration status)

Your First Term:

For the first term, we will preregister you for the following courses below to better support your academic success. Students are allowed to take up to 16 credits each term, but we strongly recommend to start with 12 credits for the first term.

- Portland Center Academic English (Required): 4-5 credits
- 1 PSU class assigned by the program (Usually from International Studies or Business departments. This is a PSU regular course you take with other domestic students): 4 credits
- 1 ESL class (Required only for the students with a 523/70 or lower TOEFL or 5.5 or lower on IELTS score): 4 credits

*¹Portland Center Course:

- is a course we offer to our in-bound study abroad students not regular PSU undergraduates.
- has no prerequisites.
- is centered around the culture and geography of Portland and how it is the same and different from other places in the United States.
- offers students to practice research writing presentations and other academic skills.
- is not a straight ESL class but an applied skills class to assist students with their regular PSU courses
- awards ESL/English Language credits

*³PSU Courses are regular elective courses offered throughout the university:

Students with a TOEFL score 36-70 on iBT (ITP 460-523)

Waseda students with an iBT 36-iBT 70 are allowed to take up to 2 PSU elective courses (up to 8 credits, excluding business courses). This arrangement is only offered to Waseda students and will not be advertised on our regular materials or webpage. However, we recommend students with a lower TOEFL score to choose one PSU course especially for the first term and to see our ESL instructor to get authorized for additional PSU elective course. We strongly encourage students with a lower TOEFL score to take PSU elective course listed on the following page because they are seen as less demanding courses and better suited to students needing more ESL support. Those courses are still PSU regular courses that PSU domestic students register for. If students with a lower TOEFL score wishes to take a class not on this list, we will consider their request but we cannot guarantee their placement.

Students with a TOEFL score 71+ on iBT (ITP 527+)

Students with iBT scores above 71 may take up to 3 PSU elective courses (up to 12 credits) offered at the university. Please note that some upper division courses (300-400 level) may have prerequisites and students may need to get instructor's approval to get overridden (usually students need to show their transcript to show those prerequisite courses are completed at Waseda University).

 Standard departmental and university course*

Housing and Meal Plan:

Dormitory room (single or double, based on availability) ranging between $1500-$3500 per term. The application fee is $50 (non-refundable) and you also need to make a $140 deposit (refundable) at the time of application. A meal plan is available, but students have kitchens to do their own cooking or they can eat at local restaurants or on campus. Most furnished rooms on campus are double-occupancy and we try our best to pair you with a non-PC roommate (but not guaranteed)

* There may be a case that Waseda students live with Japanese students in the same room and/or unit.

Opportunities for Learning through Experience:

Portland State University is famous for its "Community Based Learning" courses. These courses are open to Portland Center students and are an opportunity for them to work on a project with Americans that benefits a local community non-profit. The Portland Center staff helps students find volunteer placements in Portland. Our students have volunteered as Japanese language assistants at local schools, helpers at the local animal shelter, and as playgroup leaders for children at the state refugee center.

Portland State has many student organizations/clubs that our students may join (please see <http://www.pdx.edu/recreation/rec-clubs> and <http://salpsync.orgsync.com/studentorg> for current lists.

Program field trips are offered each term and have included beach trips, rafting, baseball and NBA games, museum trips, and festivals, as well as short-term volunteer experiences.

Facilitation Plan:

The Portland Center Office serves students Monday-Friday from 9am-5pm. Students receive their mail at the office. All staff serve students in one capacity or another (e.g., advising, assisting with registration, resolving housing problems, etc.). Students are given an emergency contact card with the cell telephone numbers of all staff. There is a very high level of academic and personal support to Portland Center students.
