Summary:

The University of Salamanca, founded in 1218 is worldwide known for its dedication to the teaching of Spanish as a foreign language. Since the beginning of its Spanish courses in 1929, tens of thousands of students from all over the world have learnt Spanish language and have become acquainted with the Hispanic culture in our classrooms. They have all been attracted by the quality of its courses and its prestigious teachers. The University of Salamanca is also famous for elaborating didactic materials such as multimedia courses, textbooks, graded readings, etc. It also collaborates with the Instituto Cervantes in the creation and correction of the DELE (Diplomas de Español como Lengua Extranjera, proficiency examinations officially approved by the Spanish Ministry of Education). The University of Salamanca is also very strong in teacher training courses and Graduate programs.

Within this setting, classes are really enjoyable and profitable. Highly trained and experienced teachers meet daily in small groups with their students fostering an interactive way of learning by which students can use what they have learnt in their current life in Spain. The emphasis is in the communicative approach to language learning, well balanced with regular practice so that accuracy is not forgotten. Regarding culture, the two dimensions of culture: that of the great writers, painters, philosophers, etc. is intertwined with the everyday culture, that is to say, with current Spanish affairs, the role of women in Spain, multicultural issues, etc.
