*4: Courses offered by other undergraduate schools and centers (including University-wide Open Courses)

Center for Japanese Language students may take up to 4 credits (2 courses) offered at other undergraduate schools and centers per semester.

* You may register for the courses that are offered by other schools and centers, but the credits you earn from those courses are not counted as the ones to complete the program. However, only 「日本語教育科目」 at Global Education Center are counted as the credits for the completion.

* Once your registration for the courses offered at other schools and centers is determined, you may not drop them anymore for any reason.

* If you are not confident with your Japanese ability, please do not dare to register the courses.

* If you register for the courses from other schools and centers, you need to read the “University-wide Open Courses Guidebook” (only in Japanese) issued at Global Education Center in advance, and understand the registration system.
